About Us

About us

Our history

Workforce Extensions was established in 1997 by founder, Andrew Hibgame. From a humble beginning the business grew significantly and it became apparent that the reason for the company's success was founded on superior service to our customers.

To recognise the hard work of the local teams key staff were invited to buy into the business and franchised the offices to the office managers. This saw the birth of our franchising program.

In our 25 years of operation, WE continue to invest and support a growing network of offices, all our offices are owned and operated by passionate franchisees who provide casual, temporary and permanent personnel to many industries across Australia.

Our difference

With over 25 years' experience and a robust national network of local owner-operators, WE can offer proven staffing solutions.

Our national network of professional offices is owned by passionate franchisees, who support their local communities. They foster employment and economic growth in these communities across Australia.

Technology and Systems

WE are planning for the future - with technology and service delivery investments, WE are making it easier to manage your workforce for better outcomes.

For optimal work-flow efficiency, Workforce Extensions franchisees utilise a wide range of digital systems to streamline candidate management, on-boarding and reference checking as well as comprehensive payroll and billing systems.

This is how WE extend your potential.
